

Is this the safest bed in the world?

When we talk of bed safety it is not the design or shape that we think of normally, it is fire proofing and the use of non toxic materials, but this bed maker Hollandia International has brought out the Platina Luxury Sleep System has a little extra security added in.

As you can see from the image the bed comes fully equipped with TV stand that rises out of the frame and other luxury extras that you expect, but I suppose you are wondering what the security feature is? Well this bed has a special place for your gun, yes, you can now take your gun to bed with you and place it in the lockable safe in the headboard.

Priced at $20,400
